

John Pumpurs

"I have been photographing frogs for about 15 years, using both biological and decorative themes.

Over the years, many of my photographs have been used by various councils, Parks & Wildlife Services and the Australian Museum, as well as images in numerous books and advertising publications.

I have also produced a range of frog-themed greeting cards and educational posters. Being a foundation member of Wildlife Art Aust. I have exhibited photographs in most of our shows.

My main aim is to promote public awareness of our native frog species and the problems caused by the introduced Cane Toad".

All images on this website are available as enlargements (mounted or plain laminated) or as prints on canvas. Both are in sizes up to 60x90cm.
